

How many sessions are required, and what results to expect?

Women who want an added boost or who want to repeat treatments when the results begin to fade will find that the impact of O-Shot is cumulative, building improvements with each treatment. Because the PRP is created with the woman's own blood, repeat treatments are safe. No downtimes after the procedure. Women can resume normal activities, including intercourse on the same day. The beginnings of positive effects from the actual PRP-triggered improvements usually start at about three weeks and are fully realised in two to three months.

Is the O-shot safe?

The O-shot is a safe procedure as the PRP is derived from the person's own blood. There is no foreign body or medication to react to, hence it is an extremely safe procedure. PRP has also been used throughout different branches in medicine to support healing, regenerative, and growth factors, such as to accelerate the healing of musculoskeletal injuries, stimulate hair growth, treat erectile dysfunction, and many more.

Who should get this treatment?

The O-shot is great for women who are seeking more frequent and intense orgasms, no matter the age. Whilst aiding in the overall amplification of the sexual experience, the O-shot is also primarily administered to women who suffer from Dyspareunia or painful sexual intercourse. Dyspareunia can be caused from a variety of reasons, including menopause, hormonal changes, medication, even certain medical treatments. The inability to orgasm, or to even feel arousal, has been known to gradually affect a woman's quality of life.

What can the O-Shot® do for you?

Of course, the O-shot will improve sexual function, desire, sensation, and enhance a woman's overall sexual experience. With this, the O-shot may also result in increased lubrication, making a woman more comfortable and experience minimal pain during intercourse. As the O-shot is a PRP type of procedure, the plasma injections can aid in the regeneration of tissue cells – leading to a more aesthetically looking vulva. The PRP injections also help women facing urinary incontinence, via the regeneration of tissue calls in and around the vaginal muscles.

How does the O-Shot® work?

During the O-Shot procedure, platelet-rich plasma (PRP) derived from your blood is injected into targeted areas of the vagina and clitoris. PRP contains growth factors that stimulate and regenerate tissues, improving blood flow and nerve sensitivity in the genital area. This amplifies sexual response, leading to enhanced pleasure and a more satisfying sexual experience.

Heightened Orgasmic Experience

The O-Shot amplifies the frequency and intensity of orgasms, allowing you to tap into newfound depths of pleasure. Experience the liberating pleasure of orgasms like never before.

Enhanced Sexual Satisfaction

By improving blood flow and nerve sensitivity, the O-Shot revitalizes your sexual response, intensifying pleasure and overall satisfaction. Say goodbye to unfulfilling encounters and hello to sexual gratification.

Increased Clitoral & G-Spot Stimulation

Discover the untapped potential of your body. The O-Shot ensures heightened sensitivity in the clitoral and G-spot regions, enhancing responsiveness during sexual activities and leading you to deeper levels of pleasure.

Reduced Sexual Pain

If you've been experiencing pain or discomfort during intercourse, the O-Shot can offer immense relief. By rejuvenating the vaginal tissues and improving lubrication, the treatment can help you reclaim pain-free and enjoyable sexual experiences.
